This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. Note

All are First Editions except a few which are specified.

This is, by far, the fullest collection of First Editions, of the eight authors named, that has ever been sold.

Nearly all the books are in good condition—much better than usual—copy after copy having been disposed of, from time to time, as better ones have been obtained. With few exceptions, they are in their original covers. The present owner, who gathered them, believes that no binding, however well executed, is so desirable a cover for a book as that in which it was given to the world.

Autograph letters of the Authors have been inserted in many of the volumes, and most of them relate to the books they now accompany.

A few holograph manuscripts are included in the collection.

The designation of sizes is in accordance with the scale of the American Library Association.

The manuscript of Bryant, which heads the list, is perhaps the earliest of his that remains; it has never been published. The "Embargo," 1809, second edition, and the "Poems," 1821, are scarce enough to be mentioned here.

Of Emerson, there are the "Right Hand of Fellowship," 1830, so rare that few collectors have ever seen the pamphlet in which it appears; the "Poems,"

1847; and the rare "Oversongs," 1864. The complete holograph manuscript of "Threnody," written in 1842, will doubtless be estimated as of higher interest than any other item in the whole collection.

The Hawthorne books begin, of course, with the rare "Fanshawe," 1828, a remarkable copy; soon followed by the even rarer "Peter Parley's Universal History," 1837, a recognized Hawthorne; "The Gentle Boy," 1839; the three little juvenile publications of 1841; and the highly valued tiny tract, "The Celestial Railroad," 1843. "Mosses from an Old Manse," 1846, appears in the well known cloth volume, and also in two parts with paper covers, in which state only one other copy is known to exist.

"The Harbinger," 1833, is the first book of importance in the Holmes list. The "Poems," 1836, by no means a rare book, but difficult to obtain in good condition, is here an excellent copy. The privately printed pamphlet, "The Contagiousness of Puerperal Fever," 1843, is almost unknown. The poem, "In Memory of Fitz-Greene Halleck," 1869, rivals in rarity the copy of "A Family Record," 1877, and the broadside poem, "James Russell Lowell," 1891. All three were privately printed for the author's use, and each bears his autograph signature. The insignificant "Fair Play," 1875, so scarce that it is found in few collections, is accompanied by an autograph letter by Holmes, which refers to the few lines he contributed to its pages.

The Longfellow list begins with an autograph letter, 1825, by the poet's father, which indicates that Longfellow sowed some wild oats in his undergraduate days. The next item is "Miscellaneous Poems from the United States. Literary Gazette," 1826, an uncommonly fine copy of this scarce little volume. Then follow the eight scarce Italian and French books, which were issued from 1830 to 1833, while Longfellow was professor of modern languages at Bowdoin. And next comes "Outre-Mer," as issued in two paper-covered parts in 1833 and 1834 respectively—probably the finest copies of these extremely rare volumes that remain. Other Longfellow rarities are "Voices of the Night," 1839; "Hyperion," 1839; "Poems on Slavery," 1842; "Ballads," 1842; "The Spanish Student," 1843; "The Belfry of Bruges," 1846; "Evangeline," 1847—all in original covers and all uncut—and the scarce "Noel," 1864, privately printed for the author.

Of Lowell there are fine copies of the "Class Poem," 1838; "A Year's Life," 1841; "Conversations," 1845, a presentation copy; "The Biglow Papers," 1848; and "The Vision of Sir Launfal," 1848. Of the greatest rarity are the poems "Mason and Slidell," a pamphlet printed in 1862, and "Il Pesceballo," of the same date. The privately printed "Commemoration Ode," 1865, is a presentation copy. The Address "On Democracy," 1884, will be found not only in the scarce first edition printed at Birmingham, but also in an earlier proof-copy, in large type, made for Lowell's own use, and with his manuscript additions which are incorporated in the first published issue. The "Hob Gobling's Song," 1866, is here in the original holograph manuscript. Here, too, is a copy of the "Poems of Maria Lowell," 1855, one of the rarest books of American Poetry.

The little list of Thoreau books includes remarkably fine fresh copies of "A Week on the Concord and Merrimack Rivers," 1849, and "Walden," 1854.

Of the books of Whittier there is a great array, beginning with "Incidental Poems" by the "Rustic Bard," 1828, in which the Quaker poet appears in a book for the first time. The rare "Legends of New England," 1831, is here; and also the much rarer "Moll Pitcher," 1832; and "The History of Haverhill," 1832, identified a few years ago as the production of Whittier. Of little "Mog Megone," 1836, the "Poems" of 1837, and the "Poems" of 1838, there are choice examples in best "collector's condition."

Another volume, identified as a Whittier, is the "Narrative of James Williams," 1838, a very fine copy of the earliest issue. The unique copy of "A Sabbath Scene," 1850, is one of the treasures of the collection. Here, too, is the only separate issue of "The Song of the Negro Boatman," 1863, and Whittier's poem "Fitz-Greene Halleck," 1869, privately printed for the author, and bearing his autograph signature. Besides the Whittier books, there are holograph manuscripts of two of his poems: "Gone," 1844, and "The Battle Autumn of 1862."

The catalogue closes with the bibliographical volumes of Harris, 1874, a privately printed copy; Leon, 1885, on large paper, unsewn and unopened; Stone, 1893, with the introduction by Eugene Field; and Foley, 1897, most useful of all, on large paper.

A Poem

A Poem

Addressed to Mr. A. Bryant.

Brookfield May 1829

Once more the bard with eager eye reviews
The flowery paths of fancy and the muse
Once more essays to trill forgotten strains
The loved amusement of his native plains.

Lo! you behold me, treading labour's round
To guide slow oxen o'er the furrowed ground
The sturdy hoe or slender rake to ply
Midst dust and sweat, beneath a summer sky
But now I pore o'er Virgil's growing lines
Where famed in war the great Aeneas shines
Where novel scenes wonderous seem to stand
Lo! grim Alecto whirls the flaming brand
Dire jarring tumult death and battle rage
Fierce armies fleet and dauntless chiefs engage
Mars thunders furious from his flying car
And hoarse toned clarions fire the raging war

Nor with less splendour does his master lend
Paint the blue skies the oceans and the land
Majestic mountains rear their awful head
Fair plains extend and blooming vales are spread
The ragged cliff in threatening grandeur towers
And joy sports smiling in Arcadian bowers
In silent calm the expanded ocean lies
Or boisterous winds convolve the rising seas
Triumphant vessels o'er his rolling tide
With painted prows and gaudy streamers glide

William Cullen Bryant

1794 – 1878

Bryant

1 Manuscript of a portion of a very early unpublished Poem, written on both sides of a sheet of paper, measuring 6¼ x 4 inches. 22 00

With the MS. is an autograph letter of 3 pages, signed John H. Bryant, dated January 28th, 1879, which gives interesting reminiscences of his brother, the Poet. In this letter he says: "I do not know that I can recollect any early poems that have not appeared in print that would be worthy of your attention. I have a portion of one written in May, 1809, when he was at his Uncle's in North Brookfield, fitting for College, which I send you in his handwriting." Bryant was in his fifteenth year when he wrote this poem. See facsimile of the first page of the MS. on opposite page.

Threnody.

1842

The southwind brings
Life, sunshine, and desire
And on every mount & meadow
Breathes aromatic fire,
But over the dead he has no power,
The loss, the loss he cannot restore,
And, looking over the hills, I mourn
The darling who shall not return.

See No. 43.

Ralph Waldo Emerson

1803–1882

Emerson

28 A Sermon. Delivered at the ordination of Hersey Bradford Goodwin as colleague pastor with Ezra Ripley, D. D., by James Kendall, D. D., with Right Hand of Fellowship by Rev. Ralph Waldo Emerson. 8vo, stitched. Concord, 1830. 25.00

The first writing by Emerson to appear in a book. The "Right Hand of Fellowship" is on pages 29, 30 and 31 of this very rare pamphlet. The present owner has never seen another copy.

Emerson

29 A Sermon delivered at the ordination of Rev. C. Robbins over the Second Congregational Church in Boston, December 4, 1833, by Rev. Henry Ware, Jr. With the hymn, "We love the venerable house," by Emerson. 8vo, stitched. Boston, 1833. 4.50

A clean copy of this scarce pamphlet.

Emerson

30 A Historical Discourse, delivered before the citizens of Concord, 12th September, 1835, on the second Centennial Anniversary of the Incorporation of the Town. 8vo, stitched. Concord, 1835. 2.00

The present copy lacks covers.

Emerson

31 A Historical Discourse delivered before the citizens of Concord, 12th September, 1835. 8vo, original paper covers. Boston, n. d. 3.00

Second edition.

Emerson

32 Nature. 12mo, original cloth. Boston, 1836. 19.50

Fine copy. From the library of Wendell Phillips.

Emerson

6.00 33 An Oration delivered before the Phi Beta Kappa Society at Cambridge, August 31, 1837. 8vo, original paper covers. Boston, 1837.

Afterwards published under the title, "Man Thinking." Fine copy.

Emerson

6.00 34 An Address delivered before the Senior Class in Divinity College, Cambridge, Sunday evening, 15 July, 1838. 8vo, original paper covers. Boston, 1838.

Fine copy.

Emerson

8.00 35 An Oration delivered before the Literary Societies of Dartmouth College, July 24, 1838. 8vo, original paper covers. Boston, 1838.

Afterwards published under the title, "Literary Ethics." Fine copy.

Emerson

3.62 36 Critical and Miscellaneous Essays by Thomas Carlyle. Edited with an introduction by Emerson. 2 volumes, 12mo, original cloth. Boston, 1838.

Emerson

16.00 37 Essays: by R. W. Emerson. 12mo, original cloth, uncut. Boston, 1841.

This volume is one-quarter of an inch taller than the following copy, and the designs stamped on the covers of the two books differ from one another. The present owner is unable to determine which is the earlier issue. Fine copy.

Emerson

11.00 38 Essays: by R. W. Emerson. 12mo, original cloth, uncut. Boston, 1841.

Fine copy.

Emerson

6.50 39 Essays: by R. W. Emerson. With preface by Thomas Carlyle. 12mo, original cloth, uncut. London, 1841.

Emerson

40 Man the Reformer. 12mo, stitched. [London, 1841.] 30.00

Rare. The present owner has never seen another copy. Foley in "American Authors" gives the date of publication as 1844, but, as stated in the pamphlet, the lecture is taken from "The Dial" for April, 1841, so it seems most likely that the first separate print was issued in the same year, as here catalogued.

Emerson

41 The Method of Nature. An oration delivered before the Society of the Adelphi in Waterville College in Maine, August 11, 1841. 8vo, original paper covers. Boston, 1841. 5.75

Fine copy.

Emerson

42 Two Sermons on the death of Rev. Ezra Ripley, D. D. By Rev. B. Frost and Rev. C. Francis, D. D. With notice on Ripley by Emerson. 8vo, original paper covers. Boston, 1841. 2.50

Emerson

43 Original Holograph Manuscript of Threnody, dated 1842. Written on 14 pages of 4to letter-paper. Collation: 1 folded sheet 4 pages; 1 sheet 2 pages; 1 sheet 2 pages; 1 folded sheet 4 pages; 1 sheet 2 pages. Size of each page, 8x10 inches. 300.00

This poem is one of the longest written by Emerson; no other of his has such a high personal interest, and none has higher poetical value. Manuscripts of Emerson are extremely rare, and another opportunity to secure such a treasure is not likely to occur soon again. On page 6 is a facsimile of the first verse of the poem.

Emerson

44 Past and Present by Thomas Carlyle. Edited by Emerson. 12mo, original paper covers, uncut. Boston, 1843. 17.50

Inserted is an autograph letter in which reference is made to this book as follows: "My Dear Sir: Carlyle did not send his copy in his own handwriting, but used an amanuensis. A page or two of soiled copy in his own hand, however, were in the paquet and I send you the best fragment of this which remains to me. I am glad you like his book, which I think his best. Yours, R. W. EMERSON.
Concord, 21 May, 1843."

Emerson

5.00 45 An Address delivered in the Court-House in Concord, Massachusetts, on 1st August, 1844, on the Anniversary of the Emancipation of the Negroes in the British West Indies. 8vo, original paper covers. Boston, 1844.

Fine copy.

Emerson

35.00 46 Essays: Second Series. 12mo, original cloth, uncut. Boston, 1844.

Presentation copy with inscription, "Cornelius Matthews, Esq., with the Respects of R. W. Emerson. Concord, October, 1844."

Emerson

5.50 47 The Gift: Christmas and New Year's Present. 1844. With a prose article, "The Garden of Plants," by Emerson, and the requiem, "Ay, pale and silent maiden," by Lowell. 8 steel plates. 8vo, original roan, gilt edges. Philadelphia, 1844.

Emerson

5.50 48 The Gift: A Christmas, New Year, and Birthday Present. 1845. With the poems "The Poet's Apology" and "The Dirge," by Emerson, and "A Gleam of Sunshine" and "The Hemlock Tree," by Longfellow. 8 steel engravings, including two portraits of Washington. 8vo, original calf, gilt edges. Philadelphia, 1845.

Emerson

4.00 49 Our Pastor's Offering. A compilation from the writings of the Pastors of the Second Church. With three poems, "The Last Farewell," "Woodnotes," and "My Thoughts," by Emerson. 16mo, original cloth. Boston, 1845.

Emerson

1.75 50 Address of the Committee appointed by a Public Meeting held at Faneuil Hall, September 24th, 1846, for the Purpose of Considering the Recent Case of Kidnapping from Our Soil, etc. With a letter by Emerson, "I feel the irreparable shame to Boston of this abduction." 8vo, original paper covers. Boston, 1846.

Emerson

51 Memoir of the Life of Henry Ware, Jr. With letters from Emerson, in reply to Mr. Ware's criticism of Emerson's sermon before the Harvard Divinity School. Portraits. 12mo, original cloth. Boston, 1846. 1 50

Emerson

52 The Diadem for MDCCCXLVI. With three poems, "Loss and Gain," "A Fable," and "The Forerunners," by Emerson. 10 engravings. 4to, original cloth, gilt edges. Philadelphia, 1846. 5 00

53 Poems. 12mo, original boards, paper label, uncut. Boston, 1847. 30 00

Very fine copy of this rare volume.

Emerson

54 The Massachusetts Quarterly Review. Edited by R. W. Emerson (who also contributed the editorial address, December, 1847), Theodore Parker and James Eliot Cabot. Volume 1, in 4 quarterly numbers. 8vo, original paper covers, uncut. Boston, 1848. 1 75

Scarce.

Emerson

55 Nature. New edition. 12mo, original cloth. Boston and Cambridge, 1849. 1 50

Emerson

56 Representative Men: Seven lectures. 12mo, original cloth. Boston, 1850. 5 00

Emerson

57 The Boston Book. With the prose article "Nature," and the poems "Concord Monument," by Emerson; "Boston Church Bells" and "The Morning Visit," by Holmes; "The Syrens," by Lowell; "Kathleen," and the prose article "The Yankee Zincali," by Whittier; the poem "Resignation," and the prose article "Footprints of Angels," by Longfellow; and the prose article "Drowne's Wooden Image," by Hawthorne. Vignette. 12mo, original gilt cloth, gilt edges. Boston, 1850. 2 25

Emerson

5 00 58 The Present, or a Gift for the Times. With five prose contributions, "Conformity," "Philanthropy," "Friends," "Sincerity," and "Love of the Beautiful," by Emerson, and the poems "Maidenhood," by Longfellow; "A Portrait," by Holmes; "Annabel Lee," by E. A. Poe. 24mo, original gilt cloth, gilt edges.
Manchester, N. H., 1850.

Emerson

5 00 59 The Liberty Bell by Friends of Freedom. With two translations from the Persian of Hafiz and Nisami, by Emerson, and the poem "Yussouf," by Lowell. 12mo, original cloth, gilt edges.
Boston, 1851.

Emerson

3 00 60 Kossuth in New England: A full Account of the Hungarian Governor's Visit to Massachusetts. With an address by Emerson. Portrait. 8vo, original cloth. Boston, 1852.

A FAMILY RECORD.

WOODSTOCK, CONNECTICUT,
JULY 4TH, 1877.

Oliver Wendell Holmes.

NOT to myself this breath of vesper song,
Not to these patient friends, this kindly throng,
Not to this hallowed morning, though it be
Our summer Christmas, Freedom's jubilee,
When every summit, topmast, steeple, tower,
That owns her empire spreads her starry flower,
Its blood-streaked leaves in heaven's benignant dew
Washed clean from every crimson stain they knew—
No, not to these the passing thrills belong
That steal my breath to hush themselves with song.

These moments all are memory's; I have come
To speak with lips that rather should be dumb;
For what are words? At every step I tread
The dust that wore the footprints of the dead
But for whose life my life had never known
This faded vesture which it calls its own.

See No. 281.

Inserted is an autograph letter of three pages, dated Beacon street, November 13th, 1871, signed O. W. Holmes, one paragraph of which begins as follows: "Homœopathy is a business I have pretty much done quarrelling, but I will confess sotto voce to yourself that I feel so ashamed of the human intellect when I hear of educated men as practising it, that I not only am ready to believe that we come from monkeys, but am disposed to question whether we are not reverting to the original type."

Holmes

8 50 186 Report of the Dinner given to Charles Dickens, in Boston, February 1, 1842. With original verses, "The stars their early vigils keep," written for and sung on the occasion, by Holmes, the poem "The Wery Last Obserwation of Weller, Senior," by J. M. Field, and speeches by Dickens, Bancroft and others. 16mo, original paper covers. Boston, 1842.

A fine copy of this scarce little volume. Autograph of "Ralph Emerson" written with pencil on fly-leaf.

Holmes

24 00 187 The Contagiousness of Puerperal Fever. 8vo, original paper cover (back cover missing). [Boston, 1843.]

Holmes

190 An Unpublished Poem. By Oliver Wendell Holmes, M. D. 12mo, original paper covers. n. p., n. d. 14.00

Privately printed. A printed note on the first page states, "These verses were read at a medical supper party about the year 1845." Although doubtless printed at a much later date, this pamphlet, in the absence of definite information of the time of issue, is here catalogued as it would have been if printed in 1845. Very rare. This is the only copy ever offered at auction. Enclosed in a cloth case.

Holmes

191 History of the Town of Dunstable: Including Nashua, Nashville, Hollis, Hudson, Litchfield, and Merrimac, N. H.; Dunstable and Tyngsborough, Mass. By Charles J. Fox. With poem, "The Pilgrim's Vision," by Holmes. Engravings. 12mo, original cloth. Nashua, 1846. 2.00

First appearance of "The Pilgrim's Vision" in a book.

Holmes

Holmes

204 Poetical Works. 24mo, original cloth, gilt edges. London, 1852. 1.75

In this edition the poem "To an English Friend" is published for the first time; and two poems, "The Ploughman" and "Pittsfield Cemetery," are now first collected. With these exceptions and the prefatory Memoir, the text of the second issue of poems, 1849, is copied. This edition is issued both with and without engravings. This copy is without them.

Holmes

205 Proceedings of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. Volume II, May, 1848, to May, 1852. With the article "On the Use of Direct Light in Microscopic Researches," by Holmes. 8vo, original paper covers, uncut. Boston, 1852. .50

1 25 212 Valedictory Address to the Medical Graduates of Harvard University, March 10th, 1858. 8vo, original paper covers. Boston, 1858.

Holmes

213 The Autocrat of the Breakfast-Table. With the half-title, the engraved title and the rubricated title. Illustrated. 12mo, original cloth. Boston, 1858. 35 00

An uncommonly fine copy of the first issue of the first edition. Inserted between the pages (110 and 111) of the printed poem is a verse in the autograph of the author, as follows:

"Build thee more stately mansions, O my soul,
As the swift seasons roll!
Leave thy low-vaulted past!
Let each new temple, nobler than the last,
Shut thee from heaven with a dome more vast,
Till thou at last art free,
Leaving thine outgrown shell by life's unresting sea!

1858–1892. [Signed] Oliver Wendell Holmes. Boston, March 23d, 1892. From 'The Chambered Nautilus.'"

Holmes

214 The Autocrat of the Breakfast-Table. With the half-title and the rubricated title. Illustrated. 12mo, original cloth. Boston, 1858. 10 00

There were two issues prior to the publication of the second edition (which has the words "second edition" on the title-page). This copy is believed to be the later of these first two issues because in size, in the color and the quality of the paper, and in the style of the cloth covers it resembles the second edition, which also lacks the engraved title. The first issue of the first edition differs from the second edition in all these particulars.

Inserted is an autograph letter of three pages dated Beacon street, August 4 [1874], signed O. W. Holmes, in which reference is made to "The Autocrat of the Breakfast-Table" and also to "The Poet at the Breakfast-Table," which at the date of the letter was almost ready for the printer.

Holmes

33 00 220 The Professor at the Breakfast-Table; with the Story of Iris. 12mo, original cloth. Boston, 1860.

Inserted in the volume opposite the printed poem are three verses in the autograph of the author, as follows:

"Her hands are cold, her face is white,
No more her pulses come and go.
Her eyes are shut to life and light.
Fold the white vesture, snow on snow,
And lay her where the violets blow.

But not beneath a graven stone
To plead for tears with alien eyes;
A slender cross of wood alone
Shall say that here a maiden lies
In peace beneath the peaceful skies.

If any, born of kindlier blood,
Should ask, What maiden lies below?
Say only this: A tender bud
That tried to blossom in the snow
Lies withered where the violets blow.

From 'Under the Violets.' [Signed] Oliver Wendell Holmes. Boston, July 5th, 1860."

Boston, 1861.

Inserted in this scarce little volume are the following lines in Holmes's autograph:

"From 'Army Hymn.'
God of all Nations! Sovereign Lord!
In thy dread name we draw the sword,
We lift the starry flag on high
That fills with light our stormy sky!
[Signed] Oliver Wendell Holmes. Boston, May 2d, 1882."

354 Autograph Letter of 3 quarto pages written by Stephen Longfellow, the father of the Poet, to Professor Cleaveland of Bowdoin College, dated January 19, 1825. Longfellow was an undergraduate of Bowdoin at the time this letter was written. The portion of the letter that refers to Longfellow is quoted below.

"Dear Sir: I lament extremely that my son should have been so regardless of his character, and inattentive to his duties, as to require the punishment which has been inflicted on him. Having warned him most earnestly & affectionately of the danger of the course he was pursuing, I had indulged a hope that reformation would have been produced, and that he would have more wisely improved his time and advantages. But in this I have been most sadly disappointed. Still I cherish the hope that his suspension may have a salutary effect on him, and that, by diligence, he may redeem some of the time, which has been so shamefully misspent. Perhaps I am influenced too much by parental affection, but with all his errors, I think he has talents, and an amiable disposition; and I most earnestly hope that he may be reclaimed. I shall do all in my power to effect this desirable object, and I must look to the Government of College for aid in its accomplishment. It has been & still is a subject of the deepest solicitude with me, and I have not failed to give him, from time to time, those parental admonitions, which his situation seemed to require. But we are doomed, in this life, to grevious disappointments, & this is one of my severest afflictions. As he had been constantly furnished with money to pay his bills, I am quite unable to conjecture the purpose for which he wanted that, which he borrowed of you, but I am much obliged by your kindness in advancing it, & now enclose you the amount, in a five & ten dollar bill of the United States Bank."

This poem first appeared in the New York Ledger, published by Robert Bonner. Inserted in the volume are two letters to James R. Osgood, both of which refer to this poem. One, dated Cambridge, March 20, 1874, signed H. W. L., states at the close: "Bonner has published the poem"; the other, dated Nahant, Aug. 6, 1874, is in part as follows: "I see no possible objection to announcing the new poem, without naming the title. I do not think Mr. Bonner could take umbrage at that. Still, as he may be sensitive and tenacious on this point, I wish you would send him a proof-sheet of your Announcement, and ask him whether he objects. That would be courteous. If he should object, it would be better to say nothing about the matter. This is the light in which I see the matter at first thought of it. [Signed] Yours truly, H. W. L."

January 17, 1901.

Mr. Arnold learns to-day, on indisputable authority, that the manuscript additions on pages 7, 9, and 16 of lot number 516 are not in Lowell's handwriting.

the worn-out farms of Massachusetts and making them productive again by the same virtues of industry and thrift that once made them profitable to the English ancestors of the men who are deserting them. To have achieved even these prosaic results (if you choose to call them so), and that out of materials the most discordant, I might say the most recalcitrant, argues a certain beneficent virtue in the system that could do it, and is not be accounted for by mere luck. Carlyle said scornfully that America meant only roast turkey every day for everybody. He forgot that States, as Bacon said of wars, go on their bellies.

As for the security of property, it should be tolerably well assured in a country where every other man hopes to be rich, even though the only property qualification be the ownership of two hands that add to the general wealth. Is it not the best security for anything to interest the largest possible number of persons in its preservation and the smallest in its division? In point of fact far-seeing men count the increasing power of wealth and its combinations as one of the chief dangers with which the institutions of the United States are threatened in the not distant future. The right of individual property is no doubt the very cornerstone of civilisation as hitherto understood, but I am a little impatient of being told that property is entitled to exceptional consideration because it bears all the burthens of the State It bears those indeed which can most easily be borne, but poverty pays with its person the chief expenses of war, pestilence, and famine. Wealth should not forget this, for Poverty is beginning to think of it now and then.

I should not think of coming before you to defend or to criticise any form of government. All have their virtues, all their defects, and all have illustrated one period or

Let me not be misunderstood. I see as clearly and rate as highly any man possibly can, the public no less than private value of wealth as the security of refinement, the feeder of all those arts that ennoble or beautify life and make a country good to live in. Many an ancestral hall here in England has been a permanent nursery of that culture which is of example and benefit to all.

CONCORD AND MERRIMACK RIVERS.

BY

HENRY D. THOREAU.

BOSTON AND CAMBRIDGE:
JAMES MUNROE AND COMPANY.
NEW YORK: GEORGE P. PUTNAM. PHILADELPHIA: LINDSAY AND BLACKISTON. LONDON: JOHN CHAPMAN.
1849.

To enhance the bibliographical value of this catalogue, I append the following items:

1. Summer: From the Journal of Henry D. Thoreau. Edited by H.G.O.Blake. Boston: 1884.
2. Excursions. Henry David Thoreau. Boston: 1894.
   (This is Vol.IX of the Riverside Edition and it includes writings never before collected.)
3. Miscellanies. By Henry David Thoreau. Boston: 1894.
   (This is Vol.X of the Riverside Edition and it contains much not published in any previous collection of Thoreau's works: notably his translation of The Prometheus Bound of Aeschylus; also the paper on "The Service: Qualities of the Recruit" which was rejected by Margaret Fuller when Thoreau offered it for the DIAL.)
4. Æsthetic Papers. Edited by Elizabeth P. Peabody. Boston: 1849.
   (This contains the first publication of Thoreau's character paper: "Resistance to Civil Government.")
5. Thoreau: His Life and Aims. A Study. By H.A.Page. (Dr. A.H.Japp). London. Chatto and Windus. 1878.
6. The Life of Henry David Thoreau. By H.S.Salt. London. Richard Bentley & Son. 1890.
7. Life of Henry David Thoreau. By H.S.Salt. London. Walter Scott. 1896. "Great Writers" Series.
   (This volume corrects, but too tenderly, the mis-statements of Sanborn's Life of Thoreau.)

That this scarce town history was written by Whittier is not generally known. It is not mentioned in Bierstadt's "Whittier Bibliography" or "Foley's First Editions of American Authors."

An advertisement appeared in "The Haverhill Gazette" of March 27, 1830.

ADVERTISEMENT.

The subscriber proposes to publish a history of Haverhill, from its first settlement in 1640 to the present time. . . . He trusts that the citizens of his native town will approve of this proposal, and he pledges himself that no pains on his part will be spared to render the work worthy of their acceptance. . . . The price will be 87 1-2 cents in case the number of pages does not exceed two hundred; if, however, the material of history should swell the volume beyond this number of pages, the price will be $1.00. ~~[illegible]~~

The Battle Autumn of 1862.

The flags of war like storm-birds fly,
The charging trumpets blow,
Yet rolls no thunder in the sky,
No earth-quake ~~[illegible]~~ strives below.

And, calm & patient Nature keeps
Her ancient promise well,
Though o'er her bloom & greenness sweeps
The battle's breath of hell.

And still she walks in golden hours
Through harvest happy farms
And still she wears her fruits & flowers
Like jewels on her arms.

What mean the gladness of the plain ~~[illegible]~~
This joy of eve and morn.
The mirth that shakes the beard of grain ~~[illegible]~~ grass
And the yellow locks of corn?

Ah! eyes may well be full of tears,
And hearts with ~~[illegible]~~ hate ~~[illegible]~~ ~~[illegible]~~ hot;
But even-paced come round the years
And Nature changes not.

637 In War Time and Other Poems. 12mo, original cloth, gilt top. Boston, 1864.

Inserted is an autograph letter in which a correction is made in the opening lines of the prelude to the poem "The Countess," which first appeared in this book. The letter is here given in full:

"Amesbury, 29th, 3 mo, 1863.

My dear Fields: It has just occured [sic] to me that the first two lines of the prelude to my poem are wrong: 'intervene between us' means simply 'go between us.' If not too late, pray let them read thus:

'I know not, Time and Space so intervene,
Whether still waiting, with a trust serene,
Thou bearest up thy fourscore years & ten,
Or, called at last, art now Heaven's citizen.'

I am ashamed of my habit of troubling thee with such matters. I presume on thy patience, which exceeds Job's. What if Satan had made the old patriarch a publisher, at the mercy of importunate authors, male and female? Thine ever, J. G. W."

Whittier

643 The Tent on the Beach, and Other Poems. 16mo, original cloth. Boston, 1867. 9 00

Inserted are the following lines from this book in Whittier's autograph:

"From 'The Eternal Goodness.'
And so beside the Silent Sea
I wait the muffled oar;
No harm from Him can come to me
On ocean or on shore.
[Signed] John G. Whittier."

Whittier

644 Fitz-Greene Halleck. [A Poem.] Read at the Dedication of His Monument in Guilford, Connecticut, July 8, 1869. 8vo, leaflet of 4 pages, of which the 4th page is blank. 12 00

Inserted is an autograph letter of two pages to James T. Fields, signed John G. Whittier, from which an extract is here given:

"Amesbury, Tuesday Evg.

Dear Fields: I sent back the proof of 'Among the Hills' yesterday with a few changes. It now occurs to me that it might be well to omit the 'Summer Idyl' in the title, as I may sometime give something better entitled to the name. But it is perhaps too late now."

Whittier

19 00 646 Ballads of New England. Illustrated. 8vo, original cloth, gilt edges. Boston, 1870.

Inserted is an autograph note referring to the illustrations of this book. "Amesbury, 6th mo. 8th, 1869.

The proofs arrived safely. Looking over them, the beauty of the engravings almost makes me ashamed of the verses they illustrate. In those of 'Cobbler Keezar,' 'Wreck of Rivermouth,' 'The Playmate,' and 'The Countess,' especially, I recognize the scenery familiar from boyhood, & which I have endeavored to associate in the mind of the reader of my ballads with the characters & incidents of local traditions. Very truly your fd, John G. Whittier."

Whittier

50 647 Winter Poems. By Favorite American Poets. Illustrated. Inserted is an autograph letter which is given below in part.

"Amesbury, 11 mo. 17th [1874].

My dear frd.: I send back the proof with some changes, I think for the better. I shall not meddle further with it except perhaps here & there a verbal substitution, before it is fixed irrevocably in book form. I am inclined to make the title read:

MABEL MARTIN,
A HARVEST IDYL.

As it now stands I regard it as the best poem of the kind I have ever written, and I am pretty sure that I could not improve upon it in a new poem at this late day.

Truly thy frd, John G. Whittier.

Whittier

15 00 661 Mabel Martin. A Harvest Idyl. With 21 illustrations. 12mo, original cloth, gilt edges. Boston, 1876.

Inserted is an autograph letter:

"Amesbury, 12mo, 25, 1876.

My dear Osgood: I am greatly obliged through thee, to receive from Mabel Martin her Christmas present of one thousand dollars ($1,000). I scarcely expected the young lady to 'come down' so handsomely.

Thine truly, John G. Whittier."
